ALLERGEN INFORMATION

We understand the importance of knowing exactly what's in your food, especially for those with food allergies or sensitivities. To help you make informed choices, we provide allergen information for the top 9 food allergens. While some peanut products are available, they are pre-packaged, and no peanut items are prepared in our kitchen. We recommend reading ingredient labels on packaged products for detailed allergen information. Please note, cross-contact with allergens is always possible due to shared preparation areas. For specific concerns, speak with a team member before ordering.
